Charles Luebbering,

most recently a member of Breault's special-projects team, has been named vice president of finance. Since joining Breault in 1990, Luebbering has held several management and executive positions, including chief operating officer and chief financial officer. Luebbering will continue as president and CEO of Breault affiliate Inqutek Inc.

Wayne Hall, former director of information services and most recently a special-projects team member, was named director of sales and product support services. Hall has been with Breault since 1994.

Mark Fink, formerly electro-optics service manager, was named director of engineering services. Fink, who has been with Breault since January 2002, holds a master's degree in optical sciences from the University of Arizona.

The Arizona Cyber Security Alliance will kick off its effort to help small businesses and non-profit organizations battle cyber-attacks at its first public event on April 29.

The event, which runs from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Doubletree Hotel at Reid Park, 445 S. Alvernon Way, will feature a kickoff of the alliance's Web site and cybersecurity "tool kit" for businesses; a panel discussion on cybercrimes, security plans and policies, business continuity and disaster recovery, and security assessments; and an expo of cybersecurity products and services.

Scottsdale-based TeleSpectra LLC has expanded its wireless Internet access service offering to businesses and institutions across rural Arizona and the Southwest, the firm said.

TeleSpectra (www.telespectra.com), founded in 1999, has been offering high-speed Internet access via a microwave network to schools, hospitals and institutional customers in metropolitan areas of Arizona, including the University of Arizona.

The company said its network reaches more than 140 rural communities within Arizona and other communities in New Mexico, Nevada, Southern California and Colorado.
